

Cynthia Russakoff has been approved and certified as a Self-Representing Artist in Jewelry Design
by the international SRAJD organization, head-quartered in Oakland, California, USA

An SRAJD member sells the jewelry that they designed and created. When you purchase from an SRAJD member, you are buying directly from and supporting the artist.

Self-Representing Artists take more time and care when selling to the customer. They have a higher interest in making sure there is 100% customer satisfaction.

When you buy directly from the artist, you also get a chance to find out special or interesting information and trivia about how the piece was designed, crafted, or what the inspiration was.
